Albert F. Prescott, shoemaker, Crookett's Bridge, Norway, says: "My kidneys gave out a year ago and I had backache so badly it put me past going for several days. I couldn't bend, I was so stiff and lame. I was working in the ship yards at the time and I blame so much heavy lifting for my trouble. I had to get up several times during the night to pass the kidney secretions and I felt drowsy all the time. Finally I went to Stone's Drug Store and got three boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills and began using them. Doan's reached my case at once and after using three boxes, the trouble left me entirely. I have felt fine since."

FARMING DELAYED

Farm work generally throughout the United States has been delayed one to three weeks on account of unfavorable weather and flood conditions, according to a survey of the crop situation for the half of April made by the United States Department of Agriculture.

Pasture conditions and winter grains are good in practically all sections.
Prospects for tree fruits and small fruits
also are good.
Live stock generally is in good condition, but there is widespread complaint of small litters and heavy mortality among spring pigs. Stock has had to remain on feed longer than usual this year, and a feed shortage exists in Wisconsin. Cold, snow weather has caused more than usual loss of live stock in Montana. Some spring lambs are being marketed from California and sheep shearing is under way there.

The supply of farm labor is abundant but the demand is not very strong, there being a general tendency to avoid hiring.

BRYANT'S POND

Mrs. Ida Humphrey, who has been keeping house for Ralph M. Bacon, returns this week to Greenwood Inn, Yarmouth, for the summer.
The Woodstock teachers attended the county convention at Mexico, Friday.
Ralph M. Bacon has moved from his farm to the Little Jap in the village.
Mr. and Mrs. Walter Starbird, Glenna
Starbird and Henry Morton of South
Paris were Sunday callers at Ralph M.
Bacon's.

The senior class play, Cranberry Corners, was presented to a crowded house,
Saturday evening.
Elizabeth Muzzy of South Paris was the week end guest of Ida Humphrey at the Little Jap.

Another section of good road is being built below the livery stable which will do away with one of the mud holes of the village. It would be a good thing if this good road could be extended south each year until the Greenwood line is reached as this is the main road through the west part of Woodstock, shortening the distance to West Paris about two miles and is one of the most beautiful drives in town.

The primary school under the direction of their teacher, Mrs. Fred Cole, gave a most excellent entertainment at the Grange Hall, Monday evening.
Thelma Farnum was at home and attended teachers' convention Friday, returning to Upton, Sunday.

AN OPEN LETTER

To The People of Central Maine

DEAR FRIENDS:

On the eve of the general observance of Hospital Day, May 12th, thruout the Nation, when hospitals are to be visited and their needs investigated, we desire to put before you certain facts relative to the CENTRAL MAINE GENERAL HOSPITAL OF LEWISTON.

THIS HOSPITAL IS OVERCROWDED

From April 1st, 1921 to April 1st, 1922 this Hospital has cared for over 2,000 patients, often under extremely crowded conditions. We have spent this year over $10,000 in charity. There is a FINANCIAL DEFICIT EVERY YEAR. With the utmost economy and care, the Hospital runs behind and will continue to run behind so long as it does its duty to patients unable to pay, and so long as it runs without endowment in form of vested funds. It is not intended as a money-making institution. It is a philanthropic institution. Its mission is to do good and relieve suffering.

THIS HOSPITAL IS WORTHY OF YOUR AID.

The late Charles Horbury of Lewiston studied all institutions with great care before he made the bequests in his Will. He desired to bequeath a larger portion of his fortune to a Lewiston and Auburn Institution having the largest radius of good work and good will among all people. He made his money here; he desired to return a portion of it to those from whom it originally came. He chose the Central Maine General Hospital as being a UNIVERSAL PHILANTHROPY, ALL OF US BEING LIABLE TO NEED ITS HELP AT ANY MOMENT.

Mr. Horbury gave an amount that may reach $50,000, specifying that it be used to assist in building a new WEST WING, TO RELIEVE THE PRESENT OVERCROWDED CONDITION.

$50,000 will not build it. We shall need more than twice as much. Mr. Horbury was a shrewd and careful man. His bequest speaks volumes. He looked into the whole subject. He understood our needs. WE NEED THAT NEW WING. IF THIS HOSPITAL IS TO MAINTAIN ITS STANDARDS AND SERVE THIS COMMUNITY, IT MUST BE BUILT. WHO WILL AID US? NOW IS THE TIME.

(Signed)

Directors of the CENTRAL MAINE GENERAL HOSPITAL

By AMOS G. FITZ, President

WE NEED AN X-RAY OUTFIT

If we are to do good work and meet modern standards of hospitals, we must have an X-Ray outfit and a room for its successful and scientific operation. THIS WILL COST ABOUT $7,500. The Hospital has no money with which to buy it. The Hospital does not feel that it should borrow this money to purchase this outfit. WILL NOT SOME SOCIETY, SOME INDIVIDUAL, SOME GROUP OF FRIENDS, DONATE THIS AMOUNT TO THIS HOSPITAL?

We do not ask this for ourselves. We ask it for the suffering, the wounded, the afflicted—of which YOU OR YOUR FRIENDS OR FAMILY may soon be among the number. IT MUST BE SUPPLIED IF THIS HOSPITAL IS TO DO MODERN SCIENTIFIC WORK. Will not some of you aid us?

OTHER NEEDS. By way of information permit us to say that within the year we have graduated 15 trained nurses to go out in this and other fields of work. They save many lives. The problem, regarding expense of training-school is now simply one of teaching and wages. By the generous gift of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Wilson and family of Auburn, a magnificent nurses' home was given to the Hospital and dedicated in December, 1921. A year ago we had only 28 pupils in the Training School. Today we have 43. This entails more expense and overhead while it insures larger public service. More teachers; more wages, more overhead. But it is all for the PUBLIC.

We need your aid. We want to build this West Wing. We want an X-Ray outfit. We want more relief against the constant deficit. We want more and more to meet the needs of the community and the demands of the times for a hospital of the High Classification that this community deserves. We want to carry on in the development of the training school.

MAY 12th IS HOSPITAL DAY

YOU ARE INVITED TO VISIT THE C. M. G. HOSPITAL ON THAT DAY AND LOOK IT OVER: GET ACQUAINTED WITH ITS WORK; UNDERSTAND ITS NEED AND PURPOSE. WITH DEEP APPRECIATION FOR ALL THAT THIS COMMUNITY HAS DONE WE YET DESIRE TO EMPHASIZE THAT WE ASK THIS NOT FOR OURSELVES BUT FOR THE SAKE OF HUMANITY AND SWEET CHARITY. IT IS NOT OUR HOSPITAL. IT IS THE HOSPITAL OF EVERY LAST MAN, WOMAN, AND CHILD LIABLE TO ILLNESS, ACCIDENT, SUFFERING and RELIEF.

WHEN YOU THINK OF GIVING, THINK OF THE CENTRAL MAINE GENERAL HOSPITAL AMONG YOUR CHIEF BENEFICIENCES: FOR ILLNESS IS THE LOT OF ALL.

OXFORD

Mrs. Marcia H. Cook

Mrs. Marcia H. Cook died at the Central Maine General Hospital in Lewiston early Friday morning. She had been ill for several months and Wednesday it was thought advisable to remove her to the hospital where she underwent an operation that forenoon.

Mrs. Cook was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Cloudman of Gorham and was born in 1857. She married James Cook of Gorham in 1894 and they lived in Westbrook for one year where Mr. Cook carried on a livery stable. From that place they moved to Edge Falls where Mr. Cook held a position as mail carrier. Later they resided at Spurr's Corner for five or six years. They removed to Oxford in 1903, when Mr. Cook received an appointment as R. F. D. mail carrier, a position he held until 1920 when he was retired by the Government on a pension.

Mrs. Cook was a member of the Congregational church, in which she took a very active part, also a member of the Woman's Relief Corps.

Besides her husband, Mrs. Cook is survived by a son, S. Everett Cook of Springfield, Mass.; her father, P. E. Cloudman and two sisters, Mrs. Fannie Dyer and Eleanor Cloudman, all of Gorham. She leaves a wide circle of friends.

The funeral was held at the Congregational Church Saturday at 2 p. m. Rev. George Chase of Lewiston officiated. Burial was in the family lot at Riverside Cemetery.

NORTH FRYEBURG

Harold Watson

Our community was deeply grieved by the news received Friday, April 28th, that Harold Watson, son of Adelbert and Alice (Bemis) Watson had passed away at the Maine General Hospital. He was taken to the hospital on Wednesday where an operation for appendicitis was performed at once from which he did not rally.

Funeral services were held in the Universalist Church on Monday afternoon, May 1st. Rev. Mr. Stacy spoke words of comfort to the sorrowing relatives and friends.

LIGHT-SIX SEDAN

$1750

f. o. b. South Bend

See This New Low-Priced Sedan!

Two more cylinders make a world of difference.

You notice it when the LIGHT-SIX slows down to a snail's gait in traffic. You notice it when the open highway ahead invites the throttle. You notice it in the greater responsiveness, the greater flexibility, the greater smoothness and in the absence of vibration.

There are new driving pleasures waiting for you in the Studebaker LIGHT-SIX Sedan.

Not only is its motor more powerful, more flexible and freer from vibration than any other light six-cylinder motor ever produced, but the perfect distribution of the car weight over all four wheels gives it unusual riding and driving qualities.

If you have been accustomed to driving a "four," the responsiveness of the LIGHT-SIX will be a revelation. If you are now driving another six-cylinder car, the lack of vibration and perfect balance of this LIGHT-SIX will create new standards of riding comfort.

But, equally important, is the new low price of $1750—an intrinsic value without parallel in the industry!

Studebaker is the World's Largest Builder of Six-Cylinder Cars!

HERE THEY COME, GIRLS

"Puss in Boots" is an old story now, but "Women in Trousers" is the latest to catch the eye of the paragrapher. In all of the large cities and in many of the smaller places a neat trouserette for women is making its appearance. And, strange as it may seem, the men take it quite as a matter of course and hardly bat an eye. It has utterly failed to create any kind of a masculine commotion. And why shouldn't the women adopt a more sensible form of dress? Every one knows that the clumsy skirts with which they have been hampered for ages are unsanitary and germ carriers, a detriment to health and a spreader of diseases. Man arranges his dress so as to insure him the greatest freedom of action and comfort.

Can you conceive of any sane reason why a woman should not be accorded the same consideration? There was a great hue and cry when the women first appeared in public wearing riding breeches. Now it is considered the only sensible costume for a woman when riding a horse.

It has been so with every innovation since the beginning of time. It will be so with the new trouserette. A storm of criticism will go up, facetious remarks will be made, but in the end women will wonder why they did not come to their senses long ago. It is only a question of time when the cumbersome and unsanitary skirt will disappear. Now is as good a time as any other and the plunge is being taken.

BUSINESS IS BETTER

The pulsations of business have in the early spring of 1922 again manifested the positive tendency. Optimists had all along declared that the comparative quiet part of 1921 was merely a temporary reaction, during which the spirits of business gained strength for later activity. And this has proved to be true. From many quarters come the reports that January was a splendid month; that February was also splendid and that March and April appear to be following suit.

Possibly the substantial advance in business could have been noted long before, had not so many people retained the obsession that things were bad. With the actual business before them business is brisk, nobody has any excuse for speaking in hushed tones of the "bad conditions." It was inevitable that the rise in conditions would be observed in the late winter for so many firms were bending all their efforts to stimulate trade. A concerted effort of that kind to make a showing. Salesmen who had to get results, went out and got them. The thousands of men who eagerly urge their remedies would, if they could stop talking and take a look at things, see with their own eyes that brighter days have dawned.—The Colebrook Sentinel.

Good Business

Everybody we talk to about it agrees with us that it's good business:

To diagnose battery troubles as carefully as a doctor diagnoses his cases.

To advise and make repairs only when we know repairs will pay.

To recommend the purchase of a new battery only when repairs on the old one would not be a good investment.

To speak frankly, plainly, and with a thought of the best interests of the battery owner whether his is a Willard Battery or not.

Our Ancestors Treated Constipation Naturally

Constipation is as old as the world. Most people must fight it from birth to death. Some use harsh cathartics or metallic drugs that force relief, but do not strengthen the organs so that they perform their functions normally.

Our early ancestors turned to Nature for pleasant relief. From herbs, barks, roots and leaves blessed with laxative properties, they prepared a pleasant effective extract. Such a remedy as our forefathers made is Dr. J. F. True's Elixir, the True Family Laxative and Worm Expeller. Prescribed for his patients originally seventy-one years ago by Dr. J. F. True, a conscientious Maine country doctor, it has become a household favorite. Contains no metallic drugs—just pure extracts that purify the bowels as they cleanse. Used over 70 years. 40c, 60c, $1.20.

TOWN DIED CENTURIES AGO

Segovia, in Spain, Has Signs of Life Only Part of One Day of Each Week.

Segovia is a dead city of Spain. There are dead towns in this country which both lived and died within half a century, and few that are much more than a century old. But Segovia died centuries ago, and it is as old as civilization in Europe.

The Romans built Segovia. It stands on a rocky ridge between two swift rivers—a compact little city of narrow streets and old stone houses crowded together. A mighty aqueduct, which was built by the Romans, still brings the city its water supply from the Guadarrama mountains. Segovia, high and narrow on its ridge, lies like a great ship in the plain, moored by its aqueduct to the distant mountains.

Segovia is a city of deserted churches. Long ago it lay in a sort of contested land between the region held by the Moors and that held by the Christians. Sometimes one held it and sometimes the other. Both built churches there. Now Segovia has lost so much of its population that most of these churches stand empty, despite the fact that Spain is a pious land. Some of them have been locked for centuries, and only the bats know the secrets of their dark interiors, where neither sound nor sunlight has been for so long. Others have attendants who will open their doors to the curious.

Once a week Segovia awakens. Peasants come to the city from all the surrounding country. They are primitive people who look like figures from the middle ages. There is laughter and color in the streets then. Bells ring and a few of the churches open their doors to worshippers. But by sunset all of the peasants are gone and Segovia goes to sleep for another week.

EASY WAY TO CLEAN CLOCK

Small Piece of Kerosene-Soaked Wool Placed in Case Will Gather Dust Particles.

When a clock stops it is a mistake to suppose that it must at once be taken to the workshop for repairs. In most cases clocks cease running because of the accumulation of dust particles which clog the bearings. It is not even necessary to take the clock to pieces to clean it if a simple plan is followed which will be found to work very well. Soak a piece of cotton wool in kerosene and place this in a small saucer, a canister lid, or anything similar. Then put this in the case of the clock under the works. Close up, and at the end of 24 hours, examine the cotton wool. It will be found to be covered with black specks; these are the dust particles brought down by the fumes of the kerosene. Wind the clock up and it will start away again. Where the works of the clock are in an inclosed case a few drops of kerosene should be poured through the small hole which is present in the metal covering. Turn the clock about a while so that the kerosene is distributed and after an interval it is extremely likely that the works will commence their normal operations again.—Scientific American.

Learn the Art of Life.

Life is so full of beautiful stories that it is inconceivable that there should be any need of fiction or any other form of art. Life itself is an art and requires artists to live it. There are few of these and that may account for written art.

People who can live on the plane of their agreements and avoid the plane of their antipathies make life an art. There was cobbler friend of ours, poor, honest, witty, a philosopher and withal handsome. He had a wonderfully gifted, beautiful sister and she married a forceful "plute" who was devoted to her and whom she loved as truly as she loved her brother, the shoemaker. The shoemaker was a leader in a radical reform movement; the plute was the leader of the opposition. The shoemaker disdained any sort of financial help from his brother-in-law, but being an old bachelor, lived in the plute's house, sharing a happy family life. There was never a discordant word uttered, because these three tacitly avoided topics on which they did not agree. They knew the art of life.—Chicago News.

Grateful Carlo.

In Kentucky three men were shot to death in a fight about a dog which one of them had killed. Some men never live long enough to learn that when a dog becomes personal property the tie of pride and affection makes the animal a serious proposition to be trifled with, and that many men were born to love dogs. This reminds us that in the happy days of boyhood our most faithful and devoted friend was an old pointer named Carlo. Never did we eat a lunch out of doors without sharing it with the devoted Carlo, and that noble and loving dog invariably manifested his gratitude by shaking himself vigorously and letting us in a reciprocal way have about 50 per cent of his most active fleas.—New Orleans States.

Not a Fixed Opinion.

OXFORD COUNTY TEACHERS' MEETING

The Oxford County Teachers' Association met at Mexico, Friday. About 250 teachers were present. The first session was opened at 10:30 by the president, Prof. Shirley J. Rawson, principal of the Mexico High school. After a selection by Stanley's Orchestra, Rev. H. S. Erb offered prayer. J. J. Johnson, one of the selectmen in a very appropriate address, extended the welcome of the town to the Association.

Governor Baxter was then introduced and was welcomed with hearty and prolonged applause. He said that he looked up on the High Office of Governor as an opportunity for service to the people, and that he had earnestly sought to know the State of Maine, both in its resources and needs. He further said that he had come to the convention in order to encourage the teachers and all those who are standing back of our educational work and problems. He firmly believes in our public school system, and drew attention to some of the men, who were trained in our schools but who have gone from us to other countries and states. The schools should tend to develop in the youth, character, self-denial and self-control, if they are fulfilling the great purpose for which they are intended. The governor said that it was his ideal that the school system should be such that the child in the rural districts should have equal advantages with the child of the towns.

President Gray was the next speaker. His theme was, "Wanted, A Set of New Gears." In the development of his theme the speaker called attention to the fact that we were in a new age, a new America who are influencing our young people should be clear thinkers and possess a well balanced and sustained moral enthusiasm. The Nation needs devotion and service now as much as the dark fears of '17 and '18 and those in charge of our schools have a grand opportunity of rendering service, real service to our nation.

The various departments met in the different school buildings immediately after dinner hour, and Dr. Thomas addressed a large and enthusiastic audience at the closing session.

The following committee was chosen to nominate officers for next year: F. E. Russell, Bethel; Roy Fowler, Dixfield; Mrs. Rose A. Butts. Officers proposed and elected were:

Pres.—A. B. Garcelon, South Paris.
V. Pres.—Shirley J. Rawson, Mexico.
Sec. and Treas.—Edith Hanson, Rumford.
The executive committee is composed of:

Executive Committee—Supt. H. W. Coburn, Dixfield; Frank J. Carter, Rumford; Miss Lena L. Frank, South Paris.

The delegate appointed to attend the N. E. A. convention at Boston, Carrie Wright, Bethel.

The next convention of the Oxford County Teachers will take place at South Paris next year.

IF YOU OWN A DOG, YOU WILL APPRECIATE THIS

In Maine, the operators of electric railway cars are adding kindness to courtesy for within one of her busy cities the other day a street car was partly dismantled to save a bull dog from death. Operator John Lane was running 318 when the small dog ran over the tracks and disappeared under the wire-feeder and between the motor, wheels and brakes. Operator Lane stopped the car. The dog could not move nor could the car without killing him. For nearly an hour, a wrecking crew supervised by various officials of the line worked to jack up the car while passengers and spectators cheered them on. It had to be lifted completely off the ground and its under parts dismantled. The dog was freed and trotted away unharmed after a brief but fervent bark of gratitude. The car, put out of commission for the day, was towed to a repair shop. It was all for a dog, to be sure, but Operator Lane by his humanity, and the passengers by their appreciation and encouragement, accomplished a deed in that one hour towards better relations between a public utility and the public.

The Wentworth Poultry Fountain

(Patent Applied For)

We have recently perfected and are now offering a new fountain or watering system known as THE WENTWORTH POULTRY FOUNTAIN. It has been developed with the idea of lessening the spread of diseases through the drinking of contaminated or impure water. The fountain or main body of water is entirely separate from the drinking vessel. Water is automatically drawn from the fountain and maintained at any predetermined depth in the drinking vessel. It will thus be seen that it is impossible for the main body of water to become contaminated, for it does not come in direct contact with water in the drinking vessel. The object, therefore, of the fountain is to automatically supply fresh pure water as required by the birds, and its advantages are as follows:

FIRST—The Drinking Vessel, being separate from the main body of water, may be rinsed or disinfected at will without interfering with the fountain or main water supply.

SECOND—There are no float valves, air tight caps, or anything of the sort to get out of order. Its construction is simple; its operation is positive and pleasing.

THIRD—It is durable—will last a lifetime, and is inexpensive.

Three Gallon Size, $1.85 Five Gallon Size, $2.45

Note: Parcel postage for any point in New England or New York State, 10 cents extra.

JOSEPH ANDREWS LETTER

His Visit to Maine

Dear Advertiser: On Sunday, August 14, I rode with Mr. Russell to the Christ church where I met several of my old neighbors and listened to an able sermon by Dr. Bronson, a Presbyterian minister with $10,000 salary who has a cottage at the Lake where he spends his summer vacations.

From the Church I walked back to Mr. Pottles. On Monday forenoon I picked five quarts of tame blackberries from the family patch, and in the afternoon walked down to near Pleasant point to the Albert Stearns cottage, where I enjoyed a pleasant call with Mrs. Ellen Stearns, "nee Russell," and her daughter Josephine. Until the death of her husband some years ago they owned the fine old James Russell homestead at Lovell Center.

When she and her husband and family were leading factors in the religious and social life of the settlement. Now she makes her home with this youngest daughter at Indianapolis, Ind. The next day Tuesday I walked up Sabatos road to the home of George Eastman where I visited over night with him and his wife nee Pottles, and her sister Francener Heath, "nee Pottles," all old time friends and neighbors. They have a pleasant home and in all religious and social circles at the Center they take a leading part.

When I was a boy my cousin Jacob Andrews owned the farm and his three sons Frank, Charles and Isaac were great chums of mine and we often exchanged "nees." Their mother, Aunt Martha, nee Hamlin, was a famous cook, and her molasses ginger bread, doughnuts, apple sauce and other dainties appeared strongly to my boyish appetite. She was a good old soul, beloved by all who knew her. We owned a large fine driving mare, and on one of my visits to the Andrews home I went horse back. In coming home at the foot of a long hill the mare broke into a fast gallop and in crossing a mud hole her feet stuck in the mud and she fell throwing me over her head and about ten feet beyond. I was long in getting to my feet. The mare was just rolling over and I caught her as she came to her feet, mounted and proceeded on my way none the worse for the adventure.

The next day I took dinner at the Freeman Andrews home. I found him in good physical health, as well or better than when I last visited him five years before. The other members of the family were in good health. Mr. and Mrs. Files and Mrs. Andrews are all workers. They have some fine white faced cattle and a few of white thoroughbred chickens. James Baker and Walter Whitehouse were helping finish hay.

In the afternoon I took the back trail called a little while at the Pastman home then down to Elwell Andrews, where I made a short call then climbed the hill to the Otis Andrews home where I camped for the night. On my way up the hill I passed the old Andrews Homestead, where my grandfather, and I presume my three oldest half brothers labored with hoe, ax, scythe and cradle for many years to gain a livelihood from out the rocky barren soil. Mr. and Mrs. Andrews have a lovely home high up on the sloping hills of Sabatos mountains. They spend their summers here upon the little farm and their winters in Massachusetts with friends there.

When I sold my rough and rocky 80 acre farm for $450 to Gravelly Martin in 1866, I reserved 35 acres laying on the west side of the Sabatos road, which two or three years later I sold to Otis Andrews for $150.00. At that time there was an acre or so of tall handsome pines growing all in a clump and perhaps a foot in diameter. Perhaps one half the balance had a scattered growth of small native trees, with an occasional pine tree starting up. 15 acres of the land had been moved from ten to 30 years, with the hand scythe for its small crop of wild and white top grass. That was over 50 years ago. Left to itself the native white pine showed that it could do when given a fighting chance. Some two or three years ago, while the lumber boom was on and lumber high, Mr. Andrews cashed in this timber lot, and it brought him $8,280, in clear cash and he has the land and about $3000 worth of standing pine left.

We read a good deal these days about conserving our forest and reforesting our cut over, and burned over lands. It can be done but the State or National Government must do it. The task is great and 5 years too long to wait for any individual task. If I were a young man of 21, living in Maine and owned an upland farm of one hundred acres or more across the Oxford Hills, and expected to make my living by farming I think I would set out to begin with a few acres of pine trees to transplant.

My time for the first ten years to transplant the tiny little pine trees from the nursery to my forest reserve. The orchard, well cared for would be a good income producer for from fifty to a hundred years, and the pine trees would in fifty years grow into a wonderful bank account. When I was a boy the story was told of the boy who refused to set out an orchard, because he would get no good of it. He had a son who for the same reason neglected to plant an orchard. But the grandson set out an orchard and the old man lived to get drunk on the cider. The moral of the story was that if the old man had set out an orchard, he might have got drunk a good many times.

Thursday, August 18th, I walked down to Elwell's then on down to the Church and to Brown's camp at the Lake. I also called at the Whitehead home whose fine summer cottage is on One Tree Hill with which it is connected by a massive rustic stone bridge. Mr. Whitehead was at home and kindly volunteered to show me over the cottage. Gravel paths and flower lined walks all around, a wonderful display of flowers and shrubbery. He also had a mounted American Eagle, the largest, I was told, with one exception ever caught. It was shot by Otis Andrews under rather peculiar circumstances.

Otis had lost several high-toned hens from his flock without being able to locate the thief. One day he was standing near the house door, and his gun loaded with buck shot was just inside the door. When the big eagle swooped down the chicken yard, he missed his game and flew up and lit on the ridge pole of the barn at a moment later met a tragic fate at the hand of Otis and his gun.

I think Mr. Whitehead told me that his home was at Newry, N. J. He is a great hunter and sportsman. He owns a fine motor boat and greatly enjoys his summer vacations spent in Lovell and on Kears Lake.

Continuing my walk, I rambled back to my headquarters on the hill where I spent the night. The next day, Friday, I walked down to the village, calling by the way at the Number 4 Cemetery to hunt up the graves of some of my old time friends and neighbors—Moses Kimball and wife, "nee Mary Smith," dear old friends with whom we used to neighbor at the Center, and Benjamin Andrews and wife "nee Caroline Charles," near by neighbors, and Edwin Charles, Mrs. Andrews' brother, for many years my playmate and companion. I had a dip net that my mother made me, also a fish spear. In the spring when the ice went out of the mill brook the smelts began to run. They came up stream perhaps sixty rods and gathered in along the shore to deposit their spawn. The run each night continued from dark until about 10 at night, then the smelts went back into the lake. The smelting season lasted about two weeks and some nights there would be a large crowd of men and boys on hand. We had lots of fun between times, playing Leap Frog and other games. Ed Charles and I always went together, and some nights we would catch from fifty to a hundred of the little beauties. Later in the season when the suckers began to run, we went again and waded the creek with hatch back torches, for half the night spearing fish, and often get all that we could lug home with them strung upon a pole between us.

About 1862 Ed enlisted in the army and thereafter my partners in the fishing line I shared with A. M. Pottle and Joseph Kimball. Ed enlisted in the 13 Maine and was located at New Orleans. I had several letters from him while he was in the army. He was in Banks ill fated expedition up the Red River, where the entire Union army came near being wiped out. His description of the battle he was in was something like this: Our troops had fallen back to a new position in rear of the union batteries. The rebels were charging in solid columns, our lines as wide as a cart body, but they closed up and came on with their Rebel yell. At this critical juncture A. J. Smith's division of veteran western soldiers arrived and formed in front of our boys, gave the Western yell and charged the rebel host and sent them back in wild retreat. Poor Edward, I never saw him after he enlisted. He came back about the time I was in the West. He had a sister living, I think at Lewiston, Maine and went there for a while, then came back to his sister Caroline's to die, a victim of consumption. A few years ago while visiting with his sister, Hattie, at Madison, Wis., I spoke of Ed, and she said, "How the poor fellow cried when he found he had to die."

From the Cemetery which is one of the best kept cemeteries I have ever visited I went on to the village. As one of these fine old houses I met for the first time my second cousin Albion Heald and had a half hour's pleasant chat with him. I think he said that he was 83 years old. He is the oldest man in town and proudly showed me the cane given him as a trophy by a Boston paper to the oldest man in Lovell.

My aunt Esther Andrews was born in Billerica, Mass., about 1780, married Capt. Stephen Heald of Lovell Village, May 24th, 1803. He was the first store keeper in Lovell and was called the Squire. She had seven children, 5 girls and two boys. Of these Eanes Heald was the only one of the family that I ever knew. He had a fine home and a farm about half way between No. 4 and the village. The last time I met him, 9 years ago, I think he was living in the village on Christian Hill-way. Eanes Heald was a true blue, Jackson Democrat, an honor to his party, his town and his family. Mr. Heald and my uncle Isaac Stearns, Andrews, were the only members of my branch of the Andrews family that I ever knew who were stalwart Republicans. Uncle Isaac said to me once, "I am a Washington Republican, they stole our name."

During the afternoon I wandered around town, looked the mills over which are now closed, visited the Preston Charles big Auction Sale and went home with the auctioneer, Cyrus Chapman, who is one of the live wires of Lovell and with his wife are royal entertainers, as I found out by enjoying their hospitality for the night.

The next night I called at the G. W. Walker home intending to make a short visit but found them just ready to start out to Fryeburg to attend a reunion of some kind. I also made a short call upon George Henry Moore, an old time friend. My half brother Stephen Andrews lived in the village until his death in 1882. His wife Martha Woodbury died three years later and their only child, a daughter, Martha, and her aunt Lucy Ann Woodbury lived in the old Andrews home until the death of the latter when she married Dr. Edwin Ballard of Fryeburg and moved to Wisconsin. Dr. Ballard died quite a long time ago and his widow is now south east corner of North Dakota. My brother died when I was but eight years old and suffered intense agony, as they called the pain. They said that they could hear his groans and screams all over town. He could not lay on the bed but knelt beside it and a man stood on each side of him to help support him. As soon as the mortification had set in the pain left him and he told his attendants that they could lay him on the bed. The contrast between then and now is great. To illustrate: My half brother Simon died about 22 years ago from the same trouble. He lived in his home in Hurley, S. D., a close neighbor of mine. He was taken suddenly ill and in great pain. That was before the days of the telephone. His son had to drive with horse and buggy 14 miles and return, and it was probably two hours before the doctor arrived and during all that time the sick man was screaming with mortal agony with almost every breath. As soon as the doctor came he injected morphine into him. He lived about two days but was free from pain and perfectly conscious until the last.

Saturday, I walked back up Christian Hill calling on the way on Mrs. Watson for my washing, then back to Mr. Pottles' then towards evening down to John Meserve's where I had a pleasant visit and remained over night. John was a soldier in the World War and for disability he has a fine home, a small farm well kept, no one but himself to care and is independent. His grandfather and mother Meserve were old neighbors of ours and his four aunts and three uncles were my boyhood schoolmates. The two young ones were intimate friends of my sister, Abbie, and were often at our house.

Sunday morning I walked back to my headquarters and in the afternoon went to the church with Mr. Pottle and listened to a fine service by Dr. Leavitt, a Congregational minister who spends his vacations at the lake. One of the way up ministers who fills a high salary duty pulpit.

Monday I walked up to the old farm where I was a school boy and farm laborer spent fifteen happy years. I visited many very glad you sent the clippings as I al-

Aided in Drive

Virginia Miller of Norway, and Lawrence D. Kimball of Bethel are members of the Senior Class Committee that put across the undergraduate campaign for the Million Dollar Drive at Bates last week. Arthur Descoteau of Norway is a member of the Junior Class Committee which also helped the student quota go over the top.

Each class oversubscribed its quota, the pledges amounting to $27,000.10. The Senior class secured $9,541.10; the Juniors, $4,880; the Sophomores $7,500; the Freshmen, $6,226.

The prospect of a new gymnasium, as well as increased endowment for the college, keeps the student enthusiasm at a high pitch. A race track was represented on a score board to denote the progress of various classes in raising their quotas. President Clifford D. Gray announced on Monday a holiday for the first afternoon and Saturday morning because of the undergraduate success.

Students Building Poultry House

The freshmen and sophomores in the agricultural department at Norway High School, under Prof. Brown, are building a poultry house for Lester Richardson. This is a part of their regular school work which requires plans, estimates of feet of lumber and costs beside actual carpenter experience.

The building is located on C. A. Richardson's lot near the high school and is 25x12 feet, 6 feet front and 4 feet in the rear, with double floor and shingle roof and walls. There will be two pens. Aside from the help of a carpenter for a short time on the start, the work is being done entirely by the boys.

Lester Richardson, one of the pupils carrying on a poultry project, will house about 80 pullets in the building and carry on business with methods taught in the poultry course. He has a large flock of chicks recently hatched at the Agricultural rooms for a selection when the time arrives.

Frederick is searching the forest for fairies to ask of them the Fairy Rose. Its fragrance is the only thing which will cure his ill grandmother. The Little Green Man offers to hide Frederick near the ball room. At sight of the ball, Frederick is so entranced that he claps his hands and is discovered. The Fairy Queen grants him the rose but casts over him a spell, namely that his heart shall always be young.

This is a very attractive operetta. The children will be prettily costumed in appropriate suits. It will be given out of doors. Following are the characters:

QUEER FEELINGS AT MIDDLE AGE

Women Should Know How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Helps at This Trying Period

Sheboygan, Wisconsin.—"I was run down, tired and nervous. I could not even do my own housework, could not sleep at night and all kinds of queer thoughts would come to me. Finally I gave up going to the doctor and a friend told me of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. After the first bottle I could sleep better and I have taken seven bottles now and am so happy that I am all over these bad feelings."—Mrs. B. LANSER, 1639 N. 3rd St., Sheboygan, Wisconsin.

For the woman entering middle age Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound can be of much benefit. During this time of life certain changes take place which sometimes develop into serious trouble.

Melancholia, nervousness, irritability, headache and dizziness are some of the symptoms. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a natural restorative, especially adapted to assist nature in carrying you safely past this time. Why not give it a fair trial?

A New ESSEX

It was to prove ability and enduring qualities far beyond what any light car had ever shown that Essex made the tests resulting in its famous world's records.

But performance and reliability are not its only appeal. Its beauty of line and luxury of appointment are the work of years of leadership in car design. See the care and completeness even in the smallest detail. Its riding comfort and smooth, quiet running ease are qualities you will compare with high-priced cars. Yet Essex also gives light car advantages such as unusual tire, fuel and oil economy.

THE son of the richest man in the world said it was the great regret of his life that he had never been obliged to overcome obstacles as his father had. You say the bestowal of sudden wealth would make you happy. No, it wouldn't. If you really want to enjoy wealth, pitch into every obstacle; overcome it; gain the mastery of yourself. Thus did Rockefeller, Edison, Schwab and countless others. And, speaking of obstacles, would you let any block your way to the bank receiving-window?

Smith Fell Off To Little More Than A Shadow

Ten Years of Stomach Trouble
Finally Ended When He Got Tanlac, States Augusta Citizen.

"Two bottles of Tanlac put me in fine shape, and I'm thinking there must be many others in the fix I was in, who would be glad to know how it helped me," said Charles H. Smith, Riverside Drive, R. F. D. 1, Augusta, Me.

"For ten years I suffered with indigestion, which finally became so bad that my food would lie in my stomach and bloat me up so I could scarcely breathe and my heart beat like a trip hammer. Pains in my stomach kept me in misery day and night and I fell off in weight until I was almost a shadow. I was badly constipated, and had such spells of dizziness that two or three times I fell right down."

"I thought I would never find anything to help me, but it's a fact, after taking only two bottles of Tanlac, I'm feeling as well today as a man could wish, and have gained seven pounds in weight. All who suffer as I did certainly ought to try Tanlac."

Tanlac is sold by all good druggists.

Peerless Minstrels

A cast of about forty people put on one of the best minstrel shows staged in the vicinity for a long time. The entertainment was arranged for Thursday and Friday evenings and crowded houses greeted the players. A clamor for seats caused the show to be repeated Monday night and another enthusiastic crowd applauded the various acts.

A regulation circle opened the show with Albert D. Park as interlocutor and Elmer Dean, Billy Johnson, Frank Maxim and Walter Chandler as end men. Members of the circle and chorus were in black face and included Earl Farnham, Thomas E. R. Barnes, Henry Woodworth, Roy Conant, Harry Conant, Arthur Witham, Percy March, Albert Dean, Lewis Woodworth, Arthur Weight, Roy Titus, Ralph Butts, Elmin Hubbard, Clayton Churchill, Harry Williams, Morton Bolster. The patriotic setting was done with flags and bunting, giving a pleasing effect. The circle wore white trousers and negligee shirts, red sashes and ties. The ends appeared in fancy knee breeches, white stockings, "Claw-hammer" coats and huge orange ties.

Of course the jokes hitting near home were appreciated and kept the large audiences good natured. Above all the jests were free from objectionable features and carefully censored before presentation.

The musical program for the first part was as follows:

Overture.....Entire Company
Dapper Dan.....William Johnson
I Wonder if You Sincerely Love Me.....Earl Farnham
I Ain't Nobody's Darling.....Arthur Witham
Quartet.....Henry Woodworth, Male
Don't Leave Me Mummy.....William Johnson
Southern Lullaby.....Morton Bolster
You'll See Me Again.....Frank Maxim
Finale.....Entire Company

The second part included nine vaudeville acts which made a favorable impression each evening.

Stanley Greene as a crayon cartoonist was a hit and worked out numerous blackboard sketches depicting local affairs and characters. His act has received many compliments and was a clever turn.

The pianinies in the song and dance, "Everybody Calls Me Honey," was cleverly done and appeared in an encore. The dusky youngsters were Dorothy Dean, Geraldine Bennett, Madeira Bell, Kathryn Greene, Clarence Bumpus, Lloyd Cuttings, Charlie Stiles and Alpha Thayer.

Albert Dean as "Old Black Joe" in the character song and accompanied by four "darkies" from the high school mandolin club was a portrayal of the old plantation negro.

The black face specialty by Doris Kerr and Billy Johnson was a blending of pre-war plantation music and modern syncopation. They were loudly applauded.

Some stepping, a lot of singing and considerable comedy were passed out by the "Big Four," who were Billy Johnson, Roy Conant, Tom Barnes and Frank Maxim. The act went like a regular vaudeville team and was well received.

The bathing song by eight young ladies in typical surf costume was a neat toe dance and march with other floor movements closing with the bathing waltz song. They were coached by Mrs. Virgie Wilson and comprised Gertrude Nevins, Christine Turner, Georgia Young, Louise Abbott, Mabel Foss, Gladys Knight, Margaret Davis, Marion Wheeler. Some rumpus did the favorites Muffie Bowker and Viola Walton kick up. They appeared in a "buzz wagon" which might cause "Lizzie's" parent to collapse with envy. The costumes were also with pep and snap. They responded to several encores and made a big hit at every appearance.

Frank Maxim and Elmer Dean gave a reproduction of two broken down sports much the worse off for "hooh." They sprang several local slams and closed the act with the song, "How is it by You, By Me it's Fine."

The show closed with an oriental experiment showing the ease by which a young girl might be cut in twain with a saw and restored unharmed by this vision method. Walter Chandler impersonated an oriental hypnotist, Dorothy Dean was the subject and their assistants were Glenn Karick, Edwin Hubbard, Elmer Dean, Percy March and Arthur Witham. While the act might prove gruesome to spectators taking the saving process seriously, the main idea was to provide entertainment and give a novelty never before offered the local theater goers.

Grace Dean's orchestra, ten pieces furnished music during the three evenings and played for a short dance following the show Friday evening.

The Rebekahs for whom the minstrels played will net a large sum from the receipts. The money will be used to replace the wardrobe and paraphernalia lost in the fire some eighteen months ago.

Paris Grange

Paris Grange met Saturday, May 6 at 1:30 p. m. All of the officers were present excepting the chorister. The committee reported that Grange stable floor had been cemented. A vote was taken to place $50 in the hands of the Library Committee to be expended for new books. It was voted to get up a Banquet for the Paris High School Alumni, June 12.

The Memorial exercises of the deceased members of Paris Grange for the past year was begun by music by the Grange. A tribute to the memory of Christine Davis was given by Edith Lovell. J. E. King gave a tribute to the memory of F. L. Starbird, Eva Brooks and J. F. King to memory of Carrie A. Briggs. Sister Mildred Irving gave a reading and Ada McAllister a vocal solo.

The next meeting will be held May 20 at 8 p. m. A special program is being prepared by the Lecturer. Grace Starbird was appointed as chairman of the refreshment committee and she requests the members to bring a plate of cake.
